What is this?

Sports arbitrage places offsetting bets across different bookmakers so a profit is locked in before the event is played — the outcome does not matter. Returns come from pricing gaps between venues, not from predicting winners. This is a verified 20-month record of that operation.

PROFIT GROWTH OVER TIME — cumulative net profit, month by month

Total profit grew from S/0 to S/129,048 over 20 months. The line only rises because all 20 months closed positive — each month added to the running total.

PROFIT EARNED EACH MONTH — net profit per month

Every bar is one month's net profit. All 20 are positive. The strongest month earned S/16,974; even the weakest finished above zero.

METHODOLOGY & NOTES

Returns basis: ROI is on rotated working capital (2–3x/month), reflecting capital efficiency, not compounding. Win vs loss: average loss slightly exceeds average win, yet the operation is strongly profitable because wins occur ~6x more often (profit factor 5.35). Sharpe caveat: arbitrage is near market-neutral, so traditional Sharpe overstates risk-adjusted return; real risk is operational (account limitation, execution error), not price variance. All figures reconcile to source ledgers to the cent.
